

A message from the editors to our ad hoc reviewers

The editors express their sincere thanks and utmost gratitude to the reviewers who contributed their time and expertise to the success of Neurology in 1999.

Neurology received close to 2,700 manuscripts in 1999, up 15% from last year. Over 95% of submitted papers were sent out for peer review; of those, almost all had at least two reviewers and over 25% had three or more. Once revised, most papers are rereviewed at least once prior to acceptance, and a number receive additional rereviews.

Our ad hoc reviewers admirably bear the enormous task of reviewing manuscripts. The average time from manuscript submission to initial decision has been decreased to less than three weeks. Expedited papers are peer-reviewed in just 14 days. These short time frames are beneficial to authors, but they place an additional burden on the reviewers. While our reviewers accomplish their work quickly, they do so with thoroughness and insight. Busy, senior leaders in clinical neurology are among our best and most timely reviewers.

Reviewers are rewarded first and foremost by the knowledge that they are contributing to good science. Additionally, reviewers are afforded the opportunity to gain further perspective on their field, and to improve their own ability to effectively write and present scientific results. Good reviewing is invariably a mark of a superior scientist and a capable mentor. "Do as you would be done by" is as true for reviewing as for other aspects of life.

Listed below are the reviewers who completed reviews in the six months between April 1999 and September 1999. Those with an asterisk reviewed 5 or more papers, and those with two asterisks reviewed 10 or more.
