

Message from the Editors to our ad hoc Reviewers

In 2001, Neurology received 3,025 manuscripts from a total of 54 countries. Our reviewers made it possible for us to select the best and most interesting papers. Although Neurology accepts fewer than 25% of papers received, we send over 95% of papers for peer review. Nearly 100% of the papers we ultimately accept are also re-reviewed to improve both the science and the interest of papers. Papers are reviewed quickly, and constructive, often detailed critiques are provided for papers that may ultimately be published elsewhere. Thus our peer review process has far-reaching benefits throughout the literature of neurology.

The Editors are grateful to all of our reviewers who contribute so much to this crucial aspect of our enterprise. We are especially grateful and admiring of reviewers who review 5, 10, or 20 or more papers a year. The busiest and most productive leaders of neurology and clinical neuroscience are among our best and most responsive reviewers. All our reviewers have the Editors' sincere thanks for working efficiently, providing reviews in an average time of less than 3 weeks for initial reviews and 2 weeks for re-review.

Since 1997, Neurology has sought the help of reviewers throughout the world. An ever-increasing number of overseas experts contribute to our review process.

A comprehensive Web-based reviewing and manuscript submission system will launch in July 2002. This step will no doubt present a challenge to some authors and reviewers, but we expect that Web-based peer review will soon be routine for Neurology as well as other major journals. This should make it even easier to broaden the involvement of expert reviewers from other countries and streamline our publication process. Ultimately, we feel that authors and reviewers both will reap the benefits.

The Editors sincerely thank the following reviewers who contributed their time and expertise to the success of Neurology. Those names with one asterisk have reviewed five or more papers and those with two asterisks have reviewed at least 10 manuscripts.
