In the period from April 1, 2009, through September 30, 2009, Neurology[®] received 2,021 new and 622 revised manuscripts. During this period, 3,538 peer reviews of manuscripts were received, arriving in an average of 8.5 days after assignment. The average time from submission to first decision for papers chosen for review was 33 days during this period compared to 37 days in this same period during 2006–7. We can accept only a minority of papers submitted due to limitations in the number of print pages. We appreciate our reviewers' specific comments regarding the uniqueness of study populations, novel methods, studies that are especially educational, or new strategies for diagnosing and treating neurologic disease, as these specific comments in your reviews greatly assist us in making our decisions.

We cannot thank you enough for your dedication to Neurology. We value your opinions in making decisions about which articles will most benefit our authors and readers and improve patient care. In appreciation of your work, we grant an hour of CME credit, if requested, for each manuscript you review for the journal (maximum of 15 credits per year as determined by ACCME). To receive credit, it should be evident that the reviewer has read and understood the content of the manuscript, accompanying figures and tables, supplementary material to be published on the Web site, and references. The reviewer must make comments to the editor that aid in making an informed decision regarding publication of the manuscript and make substantive suggestions to the author. Credit is not granted for re-reviews unless the review takes more than one hour and substantial comments are made for the authors.

Please let us know if you would like to do more reviews than we have requested of you or if you have never been invited to review but are interested in doing so. Send email to journal@neurology.org with a description of your credentials and expertise in the areas in which you are qualified to review.

The reviewers listed below with one asterisk have reviewed 5 or more papers. Two asterisks indicate that the reviewer has reviewed 10 or more manuscripts. This list includes those reviewers who returned a review or reviews of initial submissions (re-reviews of the same manuscript are not included) between April 1, 2009, and September 30, 2009. For the first time, we have included the section editors and editorial board members, who have not been included traditionally in this listing.
