Between April 1, 2015, and September 30, 2015, Neurology[®] received 2,642 new and 567 revised manuscripts (compared to 2,366 new and 646 revised manuscripts during the same period in 2014). We received 4,645 peer reviews during this same interval (compared to 4,438 during the same period in 2014). Average time from submission to first decision for papers chosen for review was 36 days. We are able to accept only a minority of submitted papers and must make difficult decisions regarding which articles will most benefit our readers and improve patient care. Your thoughtful comments regarding the uniqueness of study populations, novel methods, studies that are especially educational, or new strategies for diagnosing and treating neurologic disease are tremendously helpful and highly appreciated. We are also grateful for your cooperation in returning reviews in a timely manner.

We are also thankful for the constructive feedback provided by reviewers of manuscripts submitted for the Resident & Fellow Section of Neurology. Reviews of manuscripts for this section are immensely helpful to junior authors who strive to improve their clinical and scientific writing abilities.

Please follow the guidelines for reviewing papers accessed by selecting the Information for Reviewers (IFR) link on the Neurology.org Web site. The IFR provides information on expectations of reviewers regarding confidentiality, timeliness, and reviewer conflicts of interest, and also provides instructions for formatting the comments to editors and authors to enable the most effective communication with authors.

Please e-mail journal@neurology.org if you would like to do more reviews or if you have never reviewed for the journal but are interested in doing so. Include a description of your credentials and expertise in the areas in which you are qualified to review.

The reviewers listed below with one asterisk have reviewed 5 or more papers. Two asterisks indicate that the reviewer has reviewed 10 or more manuscripts. This list includes those reviewers who returned a review or reviews of initial submissions (re-reviews of the same manuscript are not included) between April 1, 2015, and September 30, 2015.
