Between April 1, 2016, and September 30, 2016, Neurology[®] received 2,565 new and 650 revised manuscripts (compared to 2,366 new and 646 revised manuscripts during this same period in 2015). We received 4,461 peer reviews (compared to 4,645 during the same period in 2015) for these papers. We can accept only a minority of submitted manuscripts and must often make extremely difficult decisions regarding which articles we believe will most benefit readers and improve patient care. Your thoughtful comments regarding uniqueness of study populations, novel methods, studies that are especially educational, or new strategies for diagnosing and treating neurologic disease are highly appreciated. We thank you also for your cooperation in returning reviews in a timely manner.

We also appreciate the constructive feedback by reviewers of manuscripts submitted to the Resident & Fellow Section of Neurology. Reviews of manuscripts for this section are immensely helpful to junior authors who strive to improve their clinical and scientific writing abilities.

Please follow the guidelines for reviewing papers accessed by selecting the Information for Reviewers (IFR) link on the Neurology.org website. The IFR provides information on expectations of reviewers regarding confidentiality, timeliness, and reviewer conflicts of interest. It also provides instructions for formatting the comments to editors and authors to enable the most effective communication with authors.

Please email journal@neurology.org if you would like to do more reviews or if you have never reviewed for the journal but are interested in doing so. Include a description of your credentials and expertise in the areas in which you are qualified to review.

The reviewers listed below with one asterisk have reviewed 5 or more papers. Two asterisks indicate that the reviewer has reviewed 10 or more manuscripts. This list includes those reviewers who returned a review or reviews of initial submissions (re-reviews of the same manuscript are not included) between April 1, 2016, and September 30, 2016.
