Neurology® 2018;90:3-11. doi:10.1212/WNL.0000000000004780

Neurology® received 2,659 new and 629 revised manuscripts between April 1, 2017, and September 30, 2017 (compared to 2,565 new and 650 revised manuscripts during the same period in 2016). We received 4,566 peer reviews (compared to 4,461 during the same period in 2016) for these papers. Only a minority of submitted and reviewed manuscripts can be published. We must often make difficult decisions regarding which articles we believe will most benefit readers and improve patient care and highly appreciate your thoughtful comments regarding uniqueness of study populations, novel methods, studies that are especially educational, or new strategies for diagnosing and treating neurologic disease. We understand that the obligations for your time are many and thank you for your cooperation in returning reviews within a timely manner.

The constructive feedback by reviewers of manuscripts submitted to the Resident & Fellow Section of Neurology is immensely helpful to junior authors who strive to improve their clinical and scientific writing abilities. We deeply appreciate the reviews of manuscripts for this section.

Please follow the guidelines for reviewing papers accessed by selecting the Information for Reviewers (IFR) link on Neurology.org. The IFR provides information on expectations of reviewers regarding confidentiality, timeliness, and reviewer conflicts of interest. It also provides instructions for formatting the comments to editors and authors to enable the most effective communication with authors.

Please email journal@neurology.org if you would like to do more reviews or if you have never reviewed for the journal but are interested in doing so. Include a description of your credentials and expertise in the areas in which you are qualified to review.

The reviewers listed below with 1 asterisk have reviewed 5 or more papers. Two asterisks indicate that the reviewer has reviewed 10 or more manuscripts. This list includes those reviewers who returned a review or reviews of initial submissions (re-reviews of the same manuscript are not included) between April 1, 2017, and September 30, 2017.
