From April 1, 2011, through September 30, 2011, Neurology[®] received 2,167 new and 643 revised manuscripts. During this interval, 3,909 peer reviews were received (compared to 3,758 during the same period in 2010), with the average turnaround time after assignment being 8.5 days. Average time from submission to first decision for papers chosen for review remained at 33 days. Limitations in the number of pages we can publish allow us to accept only a minority of papers submitted. Your specific comments regarding the uniqueness of study populations, novel methods, studies that are especially educational, or new strategies for diagnosing and treating neurologic disease are appreciated; these comments help us immeasurably when we make final decisions regarding which articles we believe will most benefit our authors and readers, as well as improve patient care.

Manuscripts for the Resident & Fellow Section of Neurology are often submitted by trainees who have less experience in preparing articles for publication, and it is the goal of the Section to help these junior authors improve their clinical and scientific writing abilities. We especially appreciate the constructive feedback provided by reviewers of these manuscripts.

We recently posted an Information for Reviewers (IFR) link on www.neurology.org. Click on this link for information on expectations of reviewers regarding confidentiality, timeliness, and reviewer conflicts of interest. The IFR also provides instructions for formatting the comments to editors and authors in order to make communication with authors most effective.

In appreciation of your dedication to Neurology, we offer an hour of CME credit, if requested, for each manuscript you review for the Journal (maximum of 15 credits per year as determined by ACCME). To receive credit, it should be evident that the reviewer has read and understood the content of the manuscript, accompanying figures and tables, supplementary material to be published on the Web site, and references. The reviewer must make comments to the editor that aid in making an informed decision regarding publication of the manuscript and make substantive suggestions to the author. Credit is not granted for re-reviews unless the review takes more than 1 hour and substantial comments are made for the authors.

Please send e-mail to journal@neurology.org if you would like to do more reviews or if you have never reviewed for the journal but are interested in doing so. Please include a description of your credentials and expertise in the areas in which you are qualified to review.

The reviewers listed below with 1 asterisk have reviewed 5 or more papers. Two asterisks indicate that the reviewer has reviewed 10 or more manuscripts. This list includes those reviewers who returned a review or reviews of initial submissions (re-reviews of the same manuscript are not included) between April 1, 2011, and September 30, 2011.
